SHORT BUT SWEET:

Peter was trying to get his history class to understand how the Indians must have felt when they first encountered the Spanish explorers. "How would you feel," Peter asked, "if someone showed up on your doorstep who looked very different, spoke a strange language and wore unusual clothes? Wouldn't you be a bit scared?" "Nah," one boy answered, "I'd just figure it was my sister's boyfriend."

SOME THOUGHTS FOR THE WEEK:

"At my age, I'm often asked if I'm frightened of death and my reply is always, I can't remember being frightened of birth."

Peter Ustinov

"If liberty means anything at all, it means the right to tell people what they do not want to hear."

George Orwell

"Life is too short to be living somebody else's dream."

Hugh Hefner

"In this world it is not what you take up, but what you give up, that makes you rich."

Henry Beecher

"Go into the arts. They are a very human way of making life more bearable. Practicing an art is a way of making your soul grow. Sing in the shower. Dance to the radio. Tell stories. Write a poem to a friend. Do it as well as you possibly can. You will get an enormous reward. You will have created something."

Kurt Vonnegut

"The attention and dignity we give to those around us is the seed of all the relationships in the world."

Joan Chittister

"We need to capture again the ability to make short pilgrimages, to turn to God in our daily lives and actions."

David Adams
