SHORT BUT SWEET:

A little boy got lost at the YMCA and found himself in the women's locker room. When he was spotted, the room burst into shrieks, with ladies grabbing towels and running for cover. The little boy watched in amazement and then asked, 'What's the matter, haven't you ever seen a little boy before?'

SOME THOUGHTS FOR THE WEEK:

"Wanting what someone else has is like wanting the wrong tools for the job you were given to do" Yechiel Eckstein

"Gradually it was disclosed to me that the line separating good and evil passes not through states, nor between classes, nor between political parties either – but right through every human heart – and through all human hearts." Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn

"It's one of my theories that when people give you advice, they're really just talking to themselves in the past." Mark Epstein

"Happiness can be found in the darkest of times if one only remembers to turn on the light." Albus Dumbledore

"Lives, like money, are spent. What are you buying with yours?" Roy Williams

"Much of spiritual practice is just this: cutting away what must be cut, and letting remain what must remain. Knowing what to cut – this is wisdom." Wayne Muller

"The ability to see the humour in things puts them into perspective, keeping them small when necessary and keeping us small when we take ourselves too seriously." Michael Gellert
