SHORT BUT SWEET:

In a very exclusive private school near California's Silicon Valley, a third year teacher was lecturing her upper high-class students about the less fortunate. She asked them each to write an essay about a poor family in the area. One young girl's paper began: "Once upon a time there was a poor family. The father was poor. The mother was poor. The children were poor. The nannies were poor. The pool man was poor. The personal trainer was poor. The gardeners were poor. This was a very poor family."

SOME THOUGHTS FOR THE WEEK:

"An entire sea of water can't sink a ship unless it gets inside the ship. Similarly, the negativity of the world can't put you down unless you allow it to get inside you." Goi Nasu

"Truth is everybody is going to hurt you: you just gotta find the ones worth suffering for." Bob Marley

"It isn't the mountains ahead to climb that wear you out; it's the pebble in your shoe." Muhammad Ali

"Never say never because limits, like fears are often just an illusion." Michael Jordan

"Often we look so long at the closed door that we do not see the one that has been opened for us." Helen Keller

"Knowing trees, I understand the meaning of patience. Knowing grass, I can appreciate persistence." Hal Borland

"The world's big and I want to have a good look at it before it gets dark." John Muir

"When you go in search of honey you must expect to be stung by bees." Joseph Joubert
